MALSTROM AWARDS Luncheon – 2010
www.snocoheritage.org

Dear League Members and Supporters,

I'm writing to encourage you to attend this year's Malstrom Award Luncheon and renew your membership. The luncheon is always a great opportunity to share experiences and successes with this year's history projects. It will be hard to compete with Margaret Riddle's excellent review program last year but this year we have invited Michael Herschensohn from the Inquiring Mind Program. His program – "Reading Between the Lines : What Stories Old Buildings Tell Us" will be just what we need in this world where too many buildings are not allowed to tell stories before they disappear.

Please join us to vote in new and renewing Board Members—openings still exist for volunteers if you wish to nominate someone or yourself! We will enjoy another delicious lunch prepared by the wonderful Collector's Choice Restaurant. And finally we'll review activities of our groups and individuals throughout the county who have been working on historic preservation projects of all kinds. Be prepared to have someone from your group give a short summary of your activities in our brief heritage roundtable announcements.

Enclosed is the Membership and Reservations Form for the Luncheon. If you wish to attend the Inquiring Mind program only for which there is no charge, you may arrive at 12:45 pm after the luncheon is served. We thank Humanities Washington for sponsoring Prof. Herschensohn's program for us.

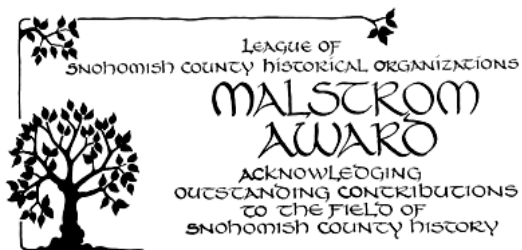

Meanwhile, check our website, subscribe to our Enews and keep researching, writing, preserving and interpreting history!

Sincerely,

Karen Prasse

Malstrom Award Nominations for 2010

Eight nominations were received for the 2010 Malstrom Award. The variety, research and creativity of these projects is inspiring and exciting. These projects once again represent our passion for preserving and interpreting local and regional history for its own sake. All the projects represent hundreds of hours of work and in reality cannot be “compared” or graded. They represent new points of view with respect for old, they honor buildings, people, events that contribute in small and large ways to our understanding of our society and ourselves. The order of the projects listed is random. They projects will be judged by a museum/history specialist outside Snohomish County.
