PUBLICATIONS

Mill Town Boy

Author: Gene Fosheim

The book Mill Town Boy is an American story of immigration, the Great Depression, war and peace. Raymond Fosheim grew up in a Norwegian American family in one of the most beautiful places on earth, Everett, Washington. Everett was the lumber capital of the northwest United States and was proudly referred to as “Mill Town” or the “City of Smokestacks.” Mill Town Boy is not just a biography of a man but also of a city and a region.

Everett's First Schools- 2016 Calendar

Creator: Historic Everett, Everett WA

Each year (since 2005) Historic Everett develops an educational, full color, masterpiece calendar on a topic that is relevant to Everett's history. The calendar is not only a chronology of dates for that year (2016) but designed to be an anecdotal history lesson for future generations.

PROJECTS

Welcome to a walking tour of Mukilteo Lighthouse Park

The Mukilteo Walking Tour

A joint project between the Mukilteo Historical Society and Jericho Bridge Church. Don Saul, President, Mukilteo Historical Society.

The Mukilteo Historical Society (MHS) and Jericho Bridge Church (JBC) created a self-guided walking tour of Mukilteo Lighthouse Grounds and Park. The tour has 14 tour stops covering approximately .5 miles of paved, level ground. The tour is summarized in a brochure available at the Park, various outlets around the city, on 2 ferries (and their terminals), and at the Future of Flight Museum. The tour stops have signs attached to existing historical/informational signs. A website (www.mukilteowalkingtour.com) was built for the tour with even more detail information on the stops (written and audio content). The audio content is narrated by 10 Mukilteo residents and actors.

Restoration and installation of the 1891 Edmonds Grade School Bell & Tower.

Edmonds-South Snohomish County Historical Society & Museum.

Restoration and installation of the 1891 Edmonds Grade School Bell & Tower. The restoration and installation of the 1891 Edmonds Grade School bell was instituted in conjunction with the Museum Plaza Project outside of the Edmonds Historical Museum which is housed in the city's 1910 Carnegie Library. The bell was removed from its non-historic structure, restored to its original patina, and rehoused in a steel structure that would complement and feature its importance to the public of Edmonds' place in history. The project, as a whole, was designed to create an aesthetically pleasing, educational and functional space for the enjoyment of visitors and citizens of Edmonds.

Beginning in 2013 project year, if more than one publication is nominated, two Malstrom awards may be given, one for an outstanding publication and one for an outstanding project.
